Stroud Union Board Abates Taxes On Damaged Properties

Directors Fear Loss Of $30,000

STROUD Union School directors went along with the current move to abate taxes paid in 1955 on properties hit badly by the flood.

At the same time, however, board members seemed in general agreement that lowering of revenue would create a hardship for school district operations.

School boards are hit more heavily by the loss of tax proportionately than are boroughs or townships, since millage rates are higher in districts for school purposes. Stroud Union contains three districts — Stroudsburg, Stroud Township and Delaware Water Gap — all of them hit by the August flood.

Board secretary Herbert Crane said no accurate estimate of revenue loss has been made, but it would be "in the vicinity of $30,000" or over. Board members expressed again their sympathetic view toward property owners who had suffered loss, but noted also that many such homes have been in part or totally restored through use of Red Cross funds.

New Teachers

The directors also hired five new teachers for the coming school year. They are: Miss Janice L. Austin, from Mansfield State Teachers College, to teach music in Stroud Township schools and in Stroud College, to teach music in the proposed new elementary school building in Arlington Heights at a salary of $3,200 per year.

Miss Margaret Grill, Kutztown State Teachers College graduate, to teach elementary at $3,200; Lyle A. Dixon, East Stroudsburg, for social studies and geography in the junior high, $3,200 yearly; Mrs. Marian Serfass, Stroud Township, elementary, at $4,200; Mrs. Elva Thomas, Hamilton Township, elementary, at $4,000.

The board also approved a new teachers' salary schedule which sets a minimum salary of $3,200 ($200 higher than the pending bill in the legislature sponsored by the PSEA) and a maximum of $6,000 for a teacher serving 12 years with a Master's degree and 18 hours graduate work in his field.

The tax abatement bill by which current school district and borough or township government moves are being made was passed on Jan. 24 this year by the legislature in Harrisburg. It was sponsored by Rep. Van Yetter, Monroe.

U. S. Defense Set For War

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said today the nation's defense forces are ready to deal with the start of any "shooting war, global or otherwise."

His testimony to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee was echoed — but with less certainty — by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the Army's chief of staff.

Taylor said he is "aware of a number of soft spots" in the Army program but still believes "our present capabilities do permit us to perform our most important tasks as we now see them."

The adequacy of the present military program "is largely a matter of judgment," Taylor said and added, "It is difficult to make a definite determination."

The testimony came against a background of criticism, by Democratic senators and others, that the Eisenhower defense program is inadequate. Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D-N.Y.), expressing misgivings that the program may be too small, chiefs would be allowed to give "uninhibited testimony."

Attorney Rests Wilson Defense

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP)—Raymond P. Wilson, 33, ex-convict from Tulsa, Okla., did not testify today before his attorney rested his defense on charges that he murdered and robbed a wealthy Philadelphia widow last July 3. The defense rested also without presenting any witnesses to account for Wilson's movements at the time the state alleges Mrs. Lulibel Rossman, 76, was slain in her downtown hotel room.

Signal Equipment To Be On Display

TOMORROW morning the biggest single effort to promote good will between The Stroudsburg and Tobyhanna Signal Depot will begin.

Visitors to these communities during the two special "Tobyhanna Days" will have a chance to "get acquainted" with work done at the Depot and the widespread functions of the U. S. Army Signal Corps.

Employees of the depot will be able to tour The Stroudsburg, browse through the stores and get acquainted with the people in these communities.

From this two-day observance, officials hope there will come a better understanding between the Depot and the community. And Depot employees have expended a lot of extra effort to help make that dream come true.

During recent weeks, and especially in the past few days, workmen at the giant Tobyhanna Army Signal Corps installation have been pounding away at full speed on a mammoth group of exhibits and displays designed to show every minute and complex function (non-secret, of course) of the Depot and the Corps. A large number of these exhibits will be assembled and on view in the old Montgomery Ward Co. store on Main St., in Stroudsburg. Here visitors will be able to walk through and see such diverse displays as moon radar in simulated action; a stripped-down, bright-as-a-new-pin jeep motor; a complete telephone communications system under glass; a scale model of a new radar-controlled counter-mortar system; complete exhibits of electronics tubes and other paraphernalia.

Giant floats and other displays will be mounted on flatbeds to the front of the Stroudsburg location and in front of Famous Department Store in East Stroudsburg, where a full-scale radar system will be shown.

All persons in the area are invited to see the exhibits. No admission is charged.

Signal Depot personnel will be on hand to explain the working of many of the devices shown. Hours for the displays will be: Friday—10 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.; Saturday—8 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.; Sunday—from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Col. Robert C. Angster

Angster Explains Spirit Of Depot

THE THEORY BEHIND "Tobyhanna Days," in essence, is one of community spirit. We at Tobyhanna Signal Depot have every reason to be proud of the community in which we work and live. Without seeming immodest we can point with justifiable pride to our own installation, to the sizeable number of men and women—over 2,400 strong—who make up its vast working force.

No other single industry in this area employs so many people. The Tobyhanna Signal Depot, of course, is not in competition with private industry. As an Army installation it concentrates its resources towards servicing the soldier in the field.

In the three years of the Depot's existence, its officers and personnel have taken great satisfaction from the extent to which the depot participates in the affairs of the communities around it.

Whether it's the work of the welfare organizations of the community or the everyday needs of the communities in which depot employees live, the spirit of cooperation is a guiding force behind what the depot does.

This is no mere "public relations" program. It is a planned, sincere and constant program of public participation.

The part we have accepted in the "Tobyhanna Days" observance in Monroe County and The Stroudsburgs is one major example of this program.

Speaking for the men and women under my command, we are happy to be here in the Poconos and we are pleased that our own contributions to the community are recognized.

Prospects Brighten For Soil Bank Program Ike Will Sign

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Prospects for a soil bank program that President Eisenhower would approve brightened today.

Moving with surprising speed and unanimity, the Senate Agriculture Committee stamped tentative approval on most of the administration's requests.

The committee, meeting in executive session, worked through a 53-page bill passed by the House to replace the election-year farm legislation vetoed by the President April 16.

Stricken from the measure were House-approved provisions for soil bank payments on grazing land and field crops, and for a 50-million-dollar fund to pay benefits in these categories.

Not Asked
The House provisions had not been asked by the President for Secretary of Agriculture Benson, and some administration support ers said they might cause a second veto.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) reported: "All our decisions so far have been tentative and subject to reconsideration, but I expect them to stand."

Two major issues remained to be decided before the committee sends the bill to the Senate floor.

One involves a House-approved provision requiring mandatory price supports for oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums, important livestock feed grains, pegged near the level of price supports on corn.

Farmers Fail To Revolt Against Ike

By The Associated Press

LATE returns from the Indian presidential voting provided no proof Wednesday of any farm revolt there against the Eisenhower administration.

President Eisenhower and Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, running in separate primaries, got 62 per cent and 36 per cent of the total vote, respectively.

Republican and Democratic leaders in the normally Republican state agreed the figures didn't demonstrate a farm rebellion. But the Democratic state chairman, Charles E. Killen, said it was only because the farmers just stayed home and worked, to take advantage of Tuesday's good weather.

Also, political students weighed the results of Tuesday primaries in Ohio, Florida, West Virginia and New Mexico.

This was the picture, item by item.

INDIANA—Returns from 4,203 of 4,386 precincts in the Republican presidential preference primary and 3,875 of 4,348 in the Democratic primary showed:

Eisenhower 214,286 or 62 per cent. Lar Daly 12,944 or 2 per cent.

Kefauver 203,954 or 36 per cent.

Kefauver, campaigning in California, said he had been told by friends in Indiana that the final results will see him with a little better than 40 per cent.

"I consider this a great victory for me," he said.

In 1952, Eisenhower got 59 per cent of the total vote in carrying the state over Democrat Adlai Stevenson, against whom Kefauver is campaigning this year for his party's presidential nomination.

OHIO—The Tuesday primaries brought about this lineup for the November elections:

For governor, Democratic Michael V. DiSalle, former Toledo mayor and onetime federal price control director, and Republican C. William O'Neill, the state's attorney general.

For senator, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democrat, who will be Ohio's favorite son at the presidential nominating convention, and Republican George H. Bender, who now is Ohio's junior senator.

Lausche and Bender were unopposed for nomination. DiSalle and O'Neill ran way with their contested races.

FLORIDA—Gov. Leroy Collins, who has become known nationwide to readers of his Florida-boosting articles in a number of periodicals, was an easy winner for Democratic renomination.

Racial segregation was something of an issue in the campaign but all four top candidates said they were for keeping Negroes and whites separated. Some of Collins' opponents said he wasn't vigorous enough for segregation.

Sen. George Smathers won Democratic renomination without campaigning.

WEST VIRGINIA—Another hot booster of his home state, Gov. William C. Marland, held a slim lead in the slow count for Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate. Marland has made a number of out-of-state trips to "sell" the Mountaineer State to investors interested in a new location.

The count from 1,566 of 2,810 60,284 votes to 59,790 for John G. Fox, the state's attorney general. Each is 33 years old.

Agree

In addition to the stamp plan decision, the bipartisan leaders agreed the Senate would pass the House-approved teacher salary increase and the borrowing power of the General State Authority would be increased by 100 million dollars.

The stamp collection plan, due to go into effect on July 1, has been a storm center of dispute since the assembly passed the sales tax law in March with the plan written into the law.

Gov. Leader, Democrats of both branches and some Senate Republicans sought to knock out that plan in a rewrite of the sales tax law, now awaiting action, pinning down some of its provisions. But House Republicans, who originated the plan, insisted on retaining it. A House-Senate conference committee held the new version of the sales tax law until the dispute was finally resolved.

Salk Vaccine Released

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Another 1,992,978 doses of Salk polio vaccine was released today by the Public Health Service.

$75,000 Grant Allocation For Mount Pocono

THE PENNSYLVANIA House of Representatives yesterday passed and sent to Gov. George M. Leader an appropriation bill which includes a $75,000 allocation for development and improvement of the Mount Pocono Airport.

The bill appropriates two million dollars for 14 airports in Pennsylvania. The House approved it, 191-0, without debate, duplicating the unanimous vote of the Senate April 5.

Although the measure did not list specific grants for airports (that is a matter decided by the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission), Gen. Anthony J. Biddle, adjutant general, has advised Rep. Van D. Yetter (D-Monroe) that $75,000 is earmarked for the Mount Pocono Airport. The Wilkes-Barre-Scranton Airport at Avoca is also scheduled for an allocation.

Matching Funds

The local grant will be matched by funds provided by the Mount Pocono Airport Authority through cash already on hand and an appropriation promised by the Monroe County Board of Commissioners.

This $150,000 fund will furnish half of the amount needed to lengthen the present grass runway from 3,300 to 4,500 feet and pave it, and to place landing lights along the runway, provide drainage and improvements to buildings.

The remaining $150,000 is in the nature of a federal grant previously approved by the Civil Aeronautics Administration after Congressional action.

Engineering phases of the project are virtually complete, so construction work can be started as soon as all the funds have been approved.

Extension of the runway to 4,500 feet, as proposed by the authority, will permit all present types of commercial and military planes except large jets to land at Mount Pocono. One major airline has received permission to make Mount Pocono a regular stop as soon as the field is enlarged sufficiently to accommodate landings and takeoffs by the big airliners.

Announcement

A little sadly, George announced that he will not run again "for good and sufficient reasons which I will not elaborate."

A mile away Eisenhower was telling his own news conference that George was one of the "wisest and most disinterested" of men "in his efforts to promote peace and bipartisanship in international affairs."

Previously, Dr. Worth Daniels, George's physician, had said in a statement that he had advised George against making a strenuous campaign. Daniels said George had a heart difficulty and diabetes in mild form and "needs to take care of himself."

Reports from Georgia, where the Augusta Chronicle broke the story in a copyrighted article, indicated that George was facing possible primary defeat by former Gov. Herman Talmadge.

At Jacksonville, Ga., Talmadge said George can "still render valuable service to his nation and to his state" and he hoped the senator would do so.

Observer Ship Sail For H-Bomb Test

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY,

Eniwetok Atoll, Thursday, May 10 (AP)—This observer ship sailed for the H-bomb testing area today as America's mightiest aerial bomb test was rescheduled for dawn tomorrow—midday Thursday in the United States.

It still was not absolutely certain, but the Mt. McKinley cast off her moorings at 10:45 a.m.—5:45 p.m. EST Wednesday.

Two alternate times were set for Shot Cherokee, an aerial explosion equivalent to millions of tons of TNT.

The first run by the expert crew in a B52 jet bomber is to be made 45 minutes before sunrise Friday.

If cloud cover obscures the target painted on Namu Island in Bikini Atoll, they are to try again 30 minutes later.

Sunrise is about 6 a.m. That is 2 p.m. EST Thursday.

Merchants Cooperate In Series Of Events

MERCHANTS in The Stroudsburgs have cooperated to make tomorrow's kickoff of "Tobyhanna Days" a rousing economic success.

When visitors walk into stores they will be confronted by colorful merchandise displays, friendly clerks and the "biggest bargain buys of the year," according to Chamber of Commerce officials.

In charge of arrangements for the special two-day celebration have been members of the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg Merchants Associations, the advertising staffs of The Daily Record and Station WVPO.

One highlight for visitors will be the awarding of $225 in "grand prizes" established especially for "Tobyhanna Days." These prizes will consist of the following: a first prize of one $100 U.S. Savings Bond; second prize of a $50 savings bond; third, fourth and fifth prizes of a $25 savings bond each.

Visitors will register for the grand prizes in any of the 30 participating stores. Awards will be made Saturday at 5:30 p.m. in front of the former Montgomery Ward Co. store on Main St., Stroudsburg.

Gilbert Smrz, Line Material official and a vice president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce, will draw the names of winners. No purchases are necessary for registration for prizes.

Persons may register at individual stores for both the grand prizes and for prizes being offered by that store without separate registration.

One store is offering $2,000 in free gifts with the purchase of certain designated merchandise, also.

Stores will be open Friday night. No other special events, aside from the enormous array of bargains in merchandise, have been scheduled for the observance.

ON THE MAIN LINE—but not a Philadelphia debutante in sight. Tobyhanna Depot is served by the main line of the Lackawanna railroad. Rail facilities include about 12,000 feet of yard trackage. Railroad engine repair shop takes care of diesel oil-fired locomotives when needed.

CATANIA, Sicily, May 9 (AP)—Giuseppe di Stefano, 70, went on trial today for locking up his wife, Rosa, 65, in a small chicken coop for nine months after a quarrel. Police said he gave her only water and pieces of hard bread every two or three days. Police released the woman after a newspaper story on her imprisonment.

Tobyhanna Days Afford Opportunity To Become Friends With Depot Force

A hearty welcome to the Stroudsburg goes out to all Tobyhanna Signal Depot employees during the two-day celebration of "Tobyhanna Days" tomorrow and Saturday.

Located in the northern section of Monroe County high atop the beautiful Pocono Plateau, the mammoth $35,000,000 depot is truly a part of the local industrial picture.

Chief motive behind the celebration of "Tobyhanna Days," which were inaugurated successfully last year, is to bring a closer relationship between the 2,600 employees of the depot and other wage-earners in the area.

Depot officials, headed by Col. Robert C. Angster, have gone all-out to obtain outstanding military exhibits for display at designated places in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg during the two-day event. The depot staff has cooperated to the fullest extent possible in helping the local committee put the celebration over with a "bang" and their efforts presage another successful affair.

Merchants of the two boroughs have been busy for several weeks, too, preparing their part in the promotion. The cooperating stores are offering savings of from 20 to 50 per cent on a wide variety of merchandise and are presenting a number of awards as added incentives to attract a large number of people into the two communities. After all, no celebration can be successful without a large outpouring of people!

More than a third of the depot personnel are residents of Monroe County or the fringe areas. While some of them are comparative strangers in our midst, having been transferred here from mother depot installations, they have become assimilated into our communities and many have distinguished themselves as leaders in civic activities.

As an integral part of the great U.S. Army Signal Corps, the depot and its entire personnel form an important segment in this nation's bulwark against the enemies of a free world. Monroe County is proud to have the depot—largest of its kind in the world—in its midst. We also welcome the opportunity to become better acquainted with all depot workers, civilian and military, in the spirit of friendly neighbors.

Appointment Of Sen. George To NATO Is Wise Move On Eisenhower's Part

President Eisenhower's decision to appoint veteran Senator Walter F. George as his personal representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is a step that should meet with the approval of freedom-loving peoples everywhere.

The Georgia Democrat has served with distinction and honor as a member of the U. S. Senate since 1922, and is considered the Democratic spokesman on foreign policy matters in the present administration. Considered one of the shrewdest statesmen in the upper chamber, Senator George carries great prestige and influence in national affairs as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a member of the Finance Committee.

George will take over as Mr. Eisenhower's special ambassador to NATO in January at the completion of his present Senate term. The assignment, according to first news dispatches, presumably would place him as the American representative on a proposed international cabinet which would be active in broadening the political aspects of NATO.

Russia's sweetness and light campaign throughout the world has reduced NATO to only a shadow of its former self. In fact, it might be said it is dead as a military alliance.

The first poisonous doses were administered to NATO at the Geneva summit conference in 1955. Moscow followed through by softening the Russian military threat to Europe, by shifting interest to Asia and the Middle East and by dangling the lure of increased trade all around.

The moment the threat of imminent war in Europe began to disappear, NATO began falling apart. Our half-hearted allies on the Continent grasped at every straw which would seem to relieve them of the necessity of sacrifices essential to build NATO's armed forces. We encourage this by our own attitude.

At best, the NATO organization was hardly more than a concerted attempt to whistle past a graveyard. But not in our most pessimistic moments did we think its potential good could be nullified so speedily—or by such obviously false devices as Russia's pretension that she was no longer interested in world conquest.

The North Atlantic Council has appointed the foreign ministers of Canada, Italy and Norway to a committee to bring about greater unity among the 14 free nations making up the pact.

And Secretary of State Dulles has proposed formation of a NATO cabinet, composed of representatives of each government, which would meet in almost continuous session to exchange views and coordinate policy in the political field.

It is as a member of this cabinet that Senator George apparently will serve. The job is a tremendous one, if it is to fulfill the high purposes intended of such an organization as NATO, but if Senator George retains the vigor and wise counsel that has marked his long tenure in the Senate we are confident much will be accomplished by the new cabinet, despite the heavy odds that are stacked against it.

Khrushchev Errs In Believing U. S., Britain Must Destroy Each Other In Quest Of Trade

In his speech before the 20th Congress of the CPSU, Nikita Khrushchev reached the thoroughly Marxist conclusion that the inevitable conflict within the capitalist world is between "Great Britain and the United States. In the theory of Marxism, capitalism contains the seed for its own destruction and one of the most explosive seeds in the competition among these countries. In World War I and World War II, the Marxists believed that they saw this principle at work, and when Lenin founded the first Marxist government, Soviet Russia, he postulated the success of his enterprise on the historic inevitability of the capitalist countries destroying each other.

Thus Khrushchev said at the 20th Congress of the CPSU: "As before, the main conflict is that between the United States and Great Britain. Anglo-American antagonism embraces a wide range of questions. Under the 'Atlantic cooperation' slogan, the trans-Atlantic competitors are grabbing the principal strategic and economic positions of the British Empire; they are working to obtain a footing on the imperial lines of communications, smother the system of preferential tariffs, and get control of the sterling area. It is not surprising, therefore, that in Britain, and in France too, there is a growing desire to put an end to the situation in which 'Atlantic cooperation' is of advantage only to one partner."

He then went on to speak of West Germany's revival of economic power: "... The experience of two world wars shows that, in their struggle for markets, the German monopolies will stop at nothing."

Then he ends this section of his speech with the paragraph: "The problem of markets is becoming all the more acute because the frontiers of the capitalist world market are increasingly contracting as a result of the formation of the new and growing socialist world market. Besides, the underdeveloped countries, on casting off the colonial yoke, begin the development of their own industry which inevitably leads to a further narrowing of markets for industrial products. All this means that the struggle for markets and spheres of influence will become still sharper within the imperialist camp."

The essence of this doctrine is that the United States and Great Britain, in their struggle for markets, must knock each other out, as two wars knocked Germany out, and as World War II knocked out Japan and Holland as imperialist powers. It apparently is the expectation of Khrushchev and his colleagues that Great Britain will resent the American success in former British markets and will take steps to undermine the United States, or will join with Soviet Russia against the United States.

The error that Khrushchev makes is fundamental with Marxists. It would not occur to them that Great Britain and the United States could combine in industrial operations as they have been doing by the export of capital from the United States to Great Britain. The differences between the two countries have been as much over methods of achieving the same objectives as over markets.

From the standpoint of opposition to Soviet Russia, American support of anti-colonialism may have strengthened Russia and weakened Great Britain, but this is not yet a fact and it is even possible that from the long view, British industry will benefit by the relationship of nations within the Commonwealth. It is impossible to say at this point that anti-colonialism aimed at the nations of Western Europe only but not at the colonial expansion of Russia and China has not strengthened Russia's position throughout the world, but it is true that Great Britain has made an astonishing recovery after World War II with American assistance and that West Germany has made an astonishing, an unbelievable recovery. It is also true that Holland has stood the test of the loss of the Dutch East Indies (Indonesia).

An even more profound error is Khrushchev's assumption that Great Britain and the United States, in their search for markets, must destroy each other, when actually whenever Great Britain has been in trouble, the United States came to its defense. The Kaiser and Hitler made the same mistake that Khrushchev is making and it proved to be very costly to them. If anything, the United States would probably be stronger economically had it not entered these wars, but American public opinion supported Presidents Wilson and Roosevelt in standing by Great Britain.

Memoirs Of Duchess Make Royalty Issue

Elsa Maxwell, Cleveland Amory, and the Church of England's weekly newspaper have all voiced opinions about the Duchess of Windsor's autobiography. The first two writers at this moment work feverishly to get their versions of Wallis in print. And the English newspaper has done so.

"The Duchess, albeit unintentionally, already has caused great damage to the monarchy," need she add to the damage now? it said. For good measure, it suggested that Wallis's personal account might be appropriate enough—but later, when all principals were dead, including the thrice-married Duchess herself.

Let us consider for a moment the question of royalty. There are two kinds, and it's a tossup as to which holds more interest for the merry wife of Windsor—"royalty" as in people, or "royalty" as reflected in book sales.

The well-intentioned churchly comment, that Wallis Warfield might better have left publication until she was with us no more, overlooked this salient point—who would, then, have collected the considerable royalties accruing from the book sales, movie rights and various serializations?

Discretion, sensibility and regard for the British crown are all very well—but book royalties are something else. The Duchess has already allegedly expressed disappointment in the manner in which she was denied the title "Her Royal Highness"—a status she felt rightfully hers. Why her obligation to exhibit concern for monarchical damage? Particularly when Edward, Duke of Windsor, thought less of the throne than of true love?

Another point is this: American girls pride themselves on financial independence, or at least their ability to be self-supporting should circumstances require it. Readers of the memoirs penned by the Baltimore belle are struck by the recurrent fact that Wallis lived on the bounty of others. From her earliest years through debauched cotillions and two marriages, we are treated to the saga of how helpful the kindfolk can be when it comes to wherewithal.

But now the Duchess can turn an honest penny. From the sale of her life story, she is at long last earning her keep. She has a job. And who would quibble over mere monarchies, with such "royalties" within easy grasp?

Hurry, Elsa and Cleveland—our breaths won't stay bated forever!

Taxi cab driver: Washington had a unique experience one day. A lady called him to stop, then lifted four wee kiddies into the back seat. "Be with you in a minute," she promised, then disappeared into a house. She was back in about ten minutes, calmly hustled the kids out of the cab, and asked, "What do I owe you?"

"I don't get it," confessed the mystified driver. "Just an inspiration," she explained. "I had to make an important long-distance phone call and it was imperative that I get the children safely out of the house."

U. S. To Test Thorium Bomb And Atomic A-A Missile

Washington, May 9—The two most significant nuclear tests have yet to take place in the momentous series now underway in the South Pacific.

Stated for June or later, depending on weather conditions, these key tests are:

A thorium-jacketed H-bomb. An anti-aircraft guided missile armed with an atomic warhead that will be fired at a drone jet plane carrying an atomic bomb.

Vice President Nixon will witness the latter test.

Under plans being worked out, upon returning home Nixon will make a nationwide radio-TV report, possibly illustrated with movies and other pictures of the spectacular explosion.

Both forthcoming experiments are "firsts" for the U.S.

Russia exploded a thorium weapon last year. That is definitely known, through scientific and other sources. The Soviet's possession of an atomic anti-aircraft missile is conjectural. There is no concrete evidence of that. Experts say, however, this "capability" does exist.

The atomic surface-to-air missile test will be two-fold: (1) The defensive effectiveness of this anti-aircraft weapon; (2) What happens when a nuclear-armed plane is hit by a nuclear explosion.

Note: The dictionary describes thorium as "a rare, grayish, metallic element found in the minerals thorite, monazite, and parent of a series of radioactive-decomposition products similar to the uranium series." Thorium is much cheaper and more plentiful than uranium. . . . Pentagon and congressional authorities are carefully studying a comprehensive survey, by famed Massachusetts Institute of Technology, of U.S. defenses against nuclear attack by enemy submarines.

MIT's "Project Lamplight" makes a number of recommendations, and the Navy will be questioned on what it's doing about them.

New Ally—West German scientists are being enlisted in the fateful race to outstrip Russia in the development of super-guided missiles.

Part of the proposed $4,900,000 foreign aid budget would be used for this.

That's what the House Foreign Affairs Committee has been told by Tracy Voorhees, former Assistant Secretary of the Army, who is now a special consultant to Defense Secretary Wilson.

A group of American scientists in West Germany working out an agreement for scientists of that country to aid in developing "special weapons." By means of similar agreements with France and Italy, three important weapons have been developed. Voorhees described them as "extremely fast jet fighters" and "a new system in communications."

So far a total of $167,232,801 has been expended on this "military weapons development program." Voorhees reported the U.S. has put up $65,602,095 of this amount, and other NATO nations $101,630,706.

Publishable highlights of his significant testimony are as follows:

"An inter-governmental arrangement is now in process between the U.S. and West Germany for extension of the mutual weapons development program to Germany. . . . This program, by adding European inventive capacity to that of the U.S., can contribute immediately and very imaginatively to offset the Red empire's out-pacing us in engineers and scientists. . . . Scientists tell me that the aggregate inventive capability of Western Europe, including Britain and West Germany, is at least the equal of that of the U.S."

"It is enormously important that we keep ahead of the Russians, and that we utilize to the utmost the scientific and research abilities of our allies. Also that this activity be coordinated with what we are doing in the U.S. Extensive surveys have been made on this in recent months. We have established, for example, that it would be a very great advantage to us to have them develop missiles which they can produce for themselves as well as for us."

"Much has already been accomplished under this mutual weapons development program. . . . Italy and France have produced certain light fighters, which will cost about a fifth as much as a U.S. fighter."

Another development is an air defense technical center to coordinate the defense of Western Europe. . . . Under this new system, a radio signal is bounced against the troposphere or ionosphere for long ranges. This communications system will provide an instrument of command of incalculable value in disseminating warnings of attack."

Note: The annual flying saucer season has arrived. It was "officially" opened with the claim of a woman in Albuquerque, N. M., that she saw one of these mysterious objects hovering in the sky and then disappearing in a flash. "I know they laugh at you when you tell about these things," said Mrs. Peter Y. Wilson, "but I don't care. I saw it with my own eyes and I wasn't dreaming when it happened."

Individuals Bring Success To Depot

By Jim Riley

"Tobyhanna Days" opens a two-day stand in the Stroudsburg today, with plenty of fanfare.

The Signal Corps Depot is currently the biggest industry located within the confines of Monroe County.

There's much we could say about the Army organization nestled in the heart of the Poconos, but most of the information is carried within other columns in today's newspaper.

However, it might be a good idea to mention a few residents of the county who are currently employed in the huge Tobyhanna setup.

Louis DePaul, coordinator of public relations at the Depot, is a graduate of Pocono High School and studied his way into the profession of school teacher at the University of Scranton.

Louie, past president of the Pocono High School Alumni Association, was postmaster at Mount Pocono before taking over his present position at the Signal Depot.

Also among the Mount Pocono employees at the Depot is Angelo "Meats" DeSanto, the man who has put together great skill with the bowling ball and the ping-pong paddle. DeSanto is a graduate of Stroudsburg High.

Helen Grady, former switchboard operator at Pocono Manor Inn, is also among the Mount Pocono residents who currently punch a time clock at the Depot.

Danny Kynick, who once ran things in the steward's department at Pocono Manor, reports for work each day at the Depot.

John Landry, now a resident of Tobyhanna, but once the pride and joy of the bell-hop corps at Pocono Manor and Skyline Inn, is also among those employed at the Depot.

Jim Meadows, one of those Signal Corps Depot employees who transferred from Baltimore, is currently a resident of Tannersville.

Ray Davies, former teacher and coach at Coolbaugh High, is now only one of several Stroudsburg employees currently punching the clock at the Depot. Ray is president of both the Pocono Mountains Baseball and Basketball Leagues.

Kenneth Benzhof, former teacher at both Pocono and Tobyhanna Township High Schools and a major in World War II, is one of the current Depot workers. Ken is now a resident of Switzwater.

We could go on naming local individuals employed at the Depot at the present time. We could list names, that is if time and space would permit.

But, instead of listing names we'll just say that it's great to have each of the Signal Corps Depot workers with us. We're glad you work here, but even more pleased that you live in our area.

Synod Proposes Increase In 1957 Budget

EAST PENNSYLVANIA'S Synod of the Evangelical and Reformed Church yesterday went on record as favoring a proposal to increase the denomination's 1957 budget by 49.6 per cent over the current figure.

This action was taken by delegates to the synod's 17th annual conference, which ended yesterday afternoon at Zion Reformed Church in Stroudsburg.

The recommendation was contained in one of three overtures to the General Synod, which will meet in Lancaster in September.

Overture

The East Pennsylvania Synod specifically overturned the General Synod that it favors a proposal calling for a budget increase for 1957 of 49.6 per cent over the current budget, or a total sum of $5,625,133.

The same proposal also calls for an increase of 4.7 per cent for 1958, over the 1957 budget, or a total sum of $5,892,083. And it further recommends a 5 per cent increase over 1958 for the following year, or a total $6,186,864.

The synod also overturned the General Synod to consider raising ceilings on the amount of financial aid to ministerial students in colleges and seminaries.

A third overture recommends that the denomination hike the present $900 maximum pension to retired ministers in the "E" or "R" funds to $1,200 a year, provided the recipient does not share in social security benefits. Where such benefits are enjoyed, the maximum pension shall remain at $900.

Commendation

Commendation was extended to St. Mark's Church of the Tannersville Charge for being the only congregation in the synod in which every member subscribes to "The Messenger," the denomination's bi-monthly periodical. Rev. William E. Foote is pastor of the Tannersville Charge.

Ministerial and lay delegates, and their alternates, to the General Synod also were appointed yesterday. Ministerial delegates are Revs. Harold R. Ash, Fountain Hill; Henry A. W. Schaeffer, DD, Bethlehem; William T. Longstaff, Palmerton; and Thomas D. Garner, DD, Nazareth. Lay delegates will be Marilyn Rader, Belfast; Merritt Brown, Bethlehem; Burton E. Seiple, Easton; and Paul H. Lerch, Bethlehem, RD 3.

Ministerial alternates are Revs. Floyd R. Shaffer, DD, Tatamy; Richard E. Crusius, Bethlehem; Ernest Hawke, Coopersburg; Harry J. Colver, Jr., Bethlehem. Lay alternates will be R. J. Bartholomew, Bethlehem; Manus McLean, Wind Gap; Franklin Borger, Sr., Bethlehem; and Donald H. Lautbach, Easton.

Dixieland Band Plays For Kiwanis

DIXIELAND BAND of Stroudsburg High School, composed of nine students under the direction of Ernest Michelfelder Jr., staged yesterday's program for the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

A. W. Munson, principal of the high school, was the program chairman. He informed the club the band was the result of leadership by John Pyle, band leader at the school. Pyle was unable to attend.

Features of the band program was a trumpet solo by Michelfelder, and the saxophone number presented by Sandra Tretheway, a seventh grade band member. Una Meinecke was to have put on a ballet dance, but was unable to secure the record to furnish the music. The band was heard in a number of selections and were highly commended for their efficiency. Numa J. Snyder accompanied the soloists.

A. J. Zabrickie and Verner M. Reynolds were remembered on their birthdays which occurred during the week. Robert O. Schell and Snyder were in charge of the song period.

Flames Sweep Over Eight Acres Of Land

TANNERSVILLE—Eight to 10 acres of brushland were burned over in the Cherry Lane section of Pocono Township yesterday, when a strong wind stirred up a pile of still-smoldering ashes.

Smoldering

Township Fire Chief Edward Metzger said a brush fire was started at the location two nights earlier, and the ashes still were smoldering yesterday morning.

Firemen received the call at 11:30 a. m., and battled the blaze for an hour and a half, Metzger said. There was no damage.

Lions Elect New Officers

STROUDSBURG Lions, in regular dinner session at the Penn-Stroud Hotel Tuesday night, elected officers for the new fiscal year. The slate, previously announced, was unanimously ratified by the club, the secretary being directed to cast a single ballot for the new officers.

Previous to the vote, however, Lion President Sy Katz gave opportunity for nomination of any possible contestant. There were none.

Lion Harold Miller is the incoming president.

Katz announced that the installation of officers would take place on Tuesday night June 5 at Sky High Lodge and urged a large attendance for the important meeting.

Ticket Sale

Lion Collins reported on the ticket sale for the Zone Spring Ladies night to be held at Bartonville Inn on Saturday, May 19. He stated that the tickets are now going well.

There was no formal program last night, but Katz called upon the group at a front table, which Past President Driebe dubbed "The Tuesday Night Smokers' Club" for entertainment. Lion Bill Dearing took charge and two good finds in the line of impromptu comedy were discovered. One was Lion Jerry Palaia and the other Lion John M. Price. They each told several stories.

Signals Even More Important To Modern Army Than Food

IT MAY be true that "an Army travels on its stomach."

But you gotta have signals or nobody knows from nothin'. Not even when it comes to chow down.

This is one of the basic reasons the Army Signal Corps has attained its present status of indispensability.

Back in the old days when a commanding officer wanted to get word of a new move to a platoon, he had to send a "runner." This was good exercise for the men picked to do the running. But human legs and endurance bring what they are, it was still mighty slow.

Today it's possible for a company commander to contact any man in his company on the front lines in a matter of minutes.

Radios

Two-way radios—the light, handy "walkie-talkies" and "handy-talkies" developed in World War Two—have put communications in military operations on a "person to person" basis. With a flick of a switch, a captain can talk to a sergeant. And everybody knows how easy it is for sergeants to make themselves heard by anybody—radio or no.

Over the years, the extent of the valued assistance the Signal Corps gives to regular Army operations has grown to enormous proportions. On the front lines, the transmission of signals is often of critical importance. One slight slip, one error in communications may cost a life or a dozen lives.

With this in mind, the modern-day Army, through its Signal Corps, has set up a mass communication system rivaling any the world has ever known. From hand-held radio transmitters to the largest transmitter constructed for field work, the business of keeping the signals straight is a full-time job for the Signal Corps.

To do this it must also be able to train qualified personnel and—more important—to be able to instruct hitherto untrained men in the proper use of signal equipment. Simplifying the use of radio or electronics equipment is no easy job. But the Signal Corps has mastered it.

Keeping the tons of radios, radar sets, photography paraphernalia and other articles in proper repair is a task no sane-minded corporation would undertake.

And, for the most part, they don't.

The job of repairing, cleaning up and polishing field-abused communications equipment falls back on the Corps itself. And this is where the Tobihanna Signal Depot comes in.

One full section of the Depot is devoted to a huge maintenance division. In it nearly 1,000 employees work each day on the job of keeping the Signal Corps in "good repair"—many of them toiling away at one small, nearly-microscopic part of a large item.

Equipment coming into the section is covered with mud, crusted with dust, sand and silt, often rusted seemingly beyond repair. Then the instrument is stripped-down. Each of the various parts is examined carefully.

Those parts which cannot be repaired are placed in salvage. Others, which are in perfect order with the exception of slight corrosion or rust, are set aside for full repair. Each is buffed until it shines. Each part is placed on an assembly line which moves in endless mechanically-precise motion around the length and breadth of the shop.

Carts labeled "No. 13" or "Paint Shoppe" (a Depot gag)—travel on a chain-pulled track around the area. Boxes containing the parts of items ranging from a new 75 mm. camera to radio transmitter tubes, are carried from spot to spot.

At the "end of the line," the article turns up anew—freshly assembled, newly-painted, shining with new trim and replete in a new leather case (or the old one, rejuvenated)—and ready to go into action again.

In the process the Depot has taken a seemingly "lost" piece of equipment and restored it to use. More important, it has saved American taxpayers a sizeable chunk of cash through restoration of equipment which might have been tossed aside.

Multiply that one piece of equipment by the hundreds of thousands of articles repaired and restored to use each year by Tobihanna Depot and its counterparts all over the U. S. and you have a major savings for taxpayers.

There's a good saying on the grounds at Tobihanna among some of the employees. One man said it the other day this way:

"Be careful of that piece of equipment, friend. The money you save may be your own."

Teachers Of Elkton, Md., Wed Here

When a couple from Elkton, Md., self-styled "marriage capital" of the United States, come to the Poconos to be married, that's news. Further news interest is added by the fact that the bridegroom, Melvin G. R. Masonheimer, is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and was a friend of Rev. William F. Wunder during his college days. Both he and his bride, Miss Paula Rebecca Stillings, are teaching in the Elkton schools.

They were married on Friday night at 9:30 before the candle-lit altar of St. Paul's Ex. Lutheran Church of Smithfield, Craig Meadows. Rev. William F. Wunder performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and a number of friends.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stillings of Mannington, Va., was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a navy-blue silk shantung suit with white accessories and wore a white orchid corsage. She carried a white New Testament, Miss Helen Titter of Chesapeake City, Md., was maid-of-honor. She was attired in a navy-blue wool suit with matching accessories and wore a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore a royal-blue lace street length dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bride's mother was attired in a navy-blue silk street length dress with matching accessories and wore a lavender orchid corsage.

John Peters of Factoryville, Pa., was best-man. During the wedding prayers the bride couple knelt on a white satin-pillow before the altar which was graced with bouquets of white snapdragons and jonquils.

The bride was graduated from Mannington High School in West Virginia in 1950 and received her B. S. Degree in Home Economics from the University of West Virginia in 1954. She is presently teaching third grade in the elementary school in Elkton, Md. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Masonheimer of Catasauqua, was graduated from Whitehall High School with the Class of 1945 and from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College with the Class of 1949. He was awarded a Master's Degree from Pennsylvania State University in 1953 and is Director of Athletics in Elkton High School in Elkton, Md. While at ESSTC Mel was a member of the varsity football team. After the present school term the newlyweds will spend the summer in the Poconos where the bridegroom will be employed at the Regina Hotel in Frutheys and the bride will attend ESSTC to work on her Master's Degree.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the "Knotty-Pine room of the Towne Tavern in Stroudsburg. A steak dinner was served the 50 guests. A large tiered wedding cake surmounted with a miniature bride and bridegroom graced the decorated bridal table.

The newlyweds will honeymoon at The Inn at Buck Hill Falls. Upon return from a Pocono honeymoon the newlyweds will reside in their newly furnished apartment on North Street, Elkton, Maryland.

It shows up in a group of antiques picked up during vacation trips, in a collection of prize prints that you date on or in any display that reflects your hobbies and interests. ## Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

So, we're a nice friendly community and we love all the new people who've moved in to work at the Tobyhanna Depot. Well, you know it's true, and I know it, but I do wonder if the newcomers know it.

If they do, they must be psychic, because we certainly do hide our friendly dispositions and kindly intentions under a basket. We don't even pay neighborly calls on the family who moves next door.

Since we don't know them, we don't know whether they'd be interested in our church, pleased to join the square dance group, enthusiastic about our favorite club or welcome additions to the pinocle game. So we don't invite them.

Oh, we're quick enough to appreciate the ability of new personalities, the ones who join the church without being urged, who let it be known they'd like to sing in the choir, who volunteer. But for the shy ones who aren't too sure they're wanted, those first few months can be pretty lonely and miserable ones. And that's too bad because I know you want them.

I've sat in your board meetings when you were wishing there were some way to let them know your club membership was open; and on your drive strategy meetings when you were bemoaning that you had to depend on the same old faithful; and you know very well your choir could use some strong new altos.

Well, the merchants and city fathers are having Tobyhanna Days. The blood bank and welfare drives have come to depend heavily on Depot personnel. But to make the new families feel truly welcome, we are the ones who ought to call on their wives. I'm ashamed that we don't. Maybe we're shy, but I'm afraid it's more that we're lazy.

Judge Davis Stresses CD Volunteers

Individual responsibility and increased knowledge were two aspects of Civil Defense emphasized by the Monroe County director, Judge Fred W. Davis at the meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women held yesterday afternoon at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Speaking on "Fall-out," Judge Davis pointed out that local Civil Defense had proved itself during the flood, and had also proved in any crises. ## THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

This is the ninth in a series of articles about famous companies, old and new, that serve the American public with dependability and distinction through distinguished stores such as A. R. Wyckoff.

"A Woman Never Forgets the Man Who Remembers"—and it is doubtful if either a man or woman, in the market for a box of candy, will ever forget the quality and superior flavor of the Whitman candies that adopted this famous slogan back in 1939. The 112-yr. history of the Whitman Company has been marked consistently with ever-increasing popularity reflected in almost unbelievable growth. At this very moment, it is safe to say that more Whitman candies than perhaps any other will be proffered Mother on May 13th, when her day dawns in a wave of sentimental gift-giving.

Whitman's began in 1842 in a small confectionery store established at 426 Market street, Philadelphia, by Stephen F. Whitman who made fine, high quality candy to compete favorably with costly imported candies. John Tyler was president of the United States, and ships like the steam-and-sail frigate, "Philadelphia," plied the world's trade routes, bringing home fruits, rare spices and nuts for Whitman confections.

The rigorous advertising that has been responsible in large measure for acquainting the world with the Whitman name, had its beginning in a rather humble ad appearing in a newspaper in 1860. But even this program, which now extends to radio and television, and which in 1950 became a continuous, concentrated campaign in the Saturday Evening Post, cannot alone explain Whitman's wholehearted acceptance everywhere. Beyond doubt, it is quality that has been responsible for the company's continuous expansion. In 1947 the huge, modern plant had to be expanded to provide an additional 90,000 square feet of air-conditioned space and 1952 saw the long-term leasing of a new five story building of 140,000 square feet that made it possible to increase production and facilitate the packing and shipping of orders.

The year 1929 was a momentous one for Whitman's, as well as for other companies across our nation, whose efforts were frantically centered upon weathering the worst stock market crash in our history. Only a few months prior to the debacle, the Whitman company had opened a retail store in a building at 1626 Chestnut street, which had won awards as the finest ever erected on that important Philadelphia thoroughfare. Looking back, executives agree that it was their steadfast refusal to reduce prices, lower the dealer's profit, or sacrifice quality, that brought them safely through the nerve-racking disaster era.

Throughout the years there have been many changes in the Whitman line. Best known of the Whitman candies—and the one the company firmly declares to be the "Best Known—Best Liked, Best-Advertised and Largest Selling Box of Candy in the United States" is the Sampler. Its striking packaging is based upon needwork art, such as the more than 600 masterpieces dating back as far as 1662 that comprise the Whitman Sampler Collection. The package was introduced in 1912, just three years before the beloved "Messenger Boy" was registered as the Whitman trademark.

Whitman's experimenting with refrigerated candy departments and had installed them in 1200 retailing outlets across the country before war time restrictions curtailed the project in 1941. Even while the company was "at war" from '42 to '45, supplying more than 6,000,000 pounds of candy for Army Overseas forces, refrigeration experiments went on in cooperation with General Electric engineers. As a result, more than 8,000 post war orders for refrigerated candy departments were sold. The result was a gratifying upsurge of business in 1947, after refrigerators had been delivered.

Through the years, the Whitman Company has won bronze and silver medals at expositions the world over. But perhaps the most heart warming tribute, sales-wise, the company can boast is the deeply sincere appreciation expressed by men and women everywhere when they are remembered with Whitman candies on a special occasion. The Whitman Messenger Boy is a symbol as romantic as Cupid in the eyes of millions of women . . . the Whitman Sampler is as familiar as a beloved face from one corner of our continent to another.

This Sunday is Mother's Day, and "Moms" beyond the counting will have a sweeter day because of Whitman's . . . and the persistent Whitman reminder that "a woman never forgets the man who remembers."

See our Wyckoff display of Whitman candies, Sampler's at 2 and 4.00, and enclosed in natural or white wicker handbags at 5.95; Pinwheel assortment, 1.50; Miniatures, 2.00; Corsage chocolate, 3.00; chocolate assorted nuts, 2.75; and Soft Center chocolates at 1.00.

East Stroudsburg Teachers Dump Trenton On Diamond, 9-6

DiTorrice Supplies Two Key Blows

EAST Stroudsburg State Teachers College returned to its winning ways in the baseball wars yesterday by hanging a 9-6 licking on Trenton Teachers. The contest was played on the Normal Hill field.

The big bat of catcher Guido DiTorrice proved to be the difference between the two ancient diamond rivals.

ESSTC's husky receiver lashed his first home run with the bases empty and put the game on ice when he crushed a bases-loaded double.

Jack Smith, Pen Argyl's gift to the baseball world, and Ed Budnowich worked on the hill for the Warriors, while Trenton pressed a pair of flingers into action.

Big Inning

ESSTC took the starch out of Trenton bright and early as the charges of Coach Ockenhausen exploded for a seven-run output in the home half of the second stanza. Two more tallies in the seventh proved to be the clincher for the home squad.

Trenton peeked away at Smith, but the visiting nine was never quite able to catch the home squad. Trenton scored one run in the third, two in the fourth, one in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Tom Laurensen led the winning attack with three singles, while Don Smith, Jim Oplinger and DiTorrice each added two.

Baker Draws First Blood

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., May 9 (AP)—Big Bob Baker drew first blood in the scramble for the vacant heavyweight throne tonight as he stabbed his way to a unanimous 12-round decision over John Holman in the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Baker, the Pittsburgh giant who has been plagued by brittle hands, through much of his boxing career, opened a gash over Holman's left eye in the sixth round and the blood flowed freely over Holman's face as Baker pounded him almost at will in the late rounds.

Slow Motion

Holman, the slow-motion Chicagoan who throws a good punch but has difficulty making it land on a good boxer, was a futile figure after the ninth round as he plodded forward in an effort to land a blow that could turn the tide.

Redlegs Clip Giants

CINCINNATI, May 9 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, aided by Ray Katt's miff of a foul pop, pushed across two runs in the seventh inning tonight to edge out the New York Giants, 6-5, in a game marred by five errors. A simple forecourt by Bob Thurman allowed the Reds to score the winning run after Katt's error.

Indians Use Errors To Sink Yankees

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—A glaring mull by Mickey Mantle and a bad throw by Tom Morgan presented Cleveland with an unearned, tie-breaking run in the ninth inning for a 6-5 victory over the New Yorkers today.

Sophomore sensation Herb Score, who had not been able to beat the Yankees in four appearances against them last year, received credit for the victory but it took a strong relief job by Don Mossi, another lefthander, in the ninth inning for a 6-5 victory over the New Yorkers today.

After Rocky Colavito had flied out, Mantle dropped Chico Carrasquel's routine fly to shallow center for a one-base error. Pinch-hitter Gene Woodling bounced out, Carrasquel moving to second.

At this point, Manager Casey Stengel ordered an intentional pass to pinch-hitter Hal Naragon. The strategy seemed to work as Jim Busby tapped weakly in front of the plate. Morgan's hasty throw, however, glanced off Busby's shoulder and bounced out of Bill Skowron's mitt, allowing Carrasquel to score from second with what proved to be the winning run.

Crimson Hose Rally To Nip Chisox

BOSTON, May 9 (AP)—Boston defeated Chicago 7-5 today for its sixth victory in the last seven games on rookie Dave Sisler's brilliant relief pitching and a tie-dissolving, three-run inning.

The Red Sox broke a 4-4 deadlock with four singles and a double good for three runs in the sixth.

With one out, Jim Piersall, Don Buddin, Sammy White and winning pitcher Tommy Hurt singled in succession for two runs. That was all for reliever Mike Fornieles.

Billy Goodman, who got three doubles and a single in five trips, rapped one of his two-baggers off Jerry Dahike for another tally.

Sports Trail - -

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP) — A badge is defined as a burrowing mammal with short, thick legs, and long claws on the forefeet, so Amateur Athletic Union officials naturally resent that appellation. Their legs ain't thick.

Actually, the "badger" tag is a rather derisive nickname stemming from the badges worn by officials at sports events, but that fact doesn't lessen the resentment, as the general idea is to picture the badge wearers as pompous, inefficient fuddy-duddies cluttering up the landscape and getting in everybody's way.

Which is untrue, and unfair. The very foundation of this very necessary organization is the selfless individual, giving of his time and energy without financial gain and with the sole thought of doing his bit to conduct amateur athletics on an organized basis.

Makes Mistakes
Sure, the AAU makes mistakes. But it often is criticized for actions which are not mistakes, and it suffers these criticisms in silence.

Irving Schoolman, president of the metropolitan section of the AAU, is more or less typical of the men who make the wheels go around in the organization. He's an articulate, sincere little man who was a sprinter in his youth, and since his graduation from college some 24 years ago had been active in AAU affairs.

"You hear a lot of criticism of the AAU," he says, "but very little of its accomplishments. People don't realize that thousands of events — swimming meets, gymnastics, boxing and other sports — are held every year throughout the country."

Big Meets
"Naturally the attention focuses on the big track meets, but they are just the show pieces, the window dressing. Our other activities are overlooked."

"When something happens that affects these big meets, naturally it is publicized. Other athletes have been suspended, and nobody paid any attention to it, and it wasn't publicized. But when a Wes Santee is suspended, it becomes big news, and the AAU comes in for criticism."

"We are not a policing body, going around ferreting out rule breakers. But when a charge is made, we investigate, and take action if we feel it is warranted. Incidentally, Santee wasn't banned and those responsible for the excess expense money allowed to escape censure. They also were banned, although it wasn't publicized."

"Because of the unfavorable publicity the AAU received in that case, we thought there might be resignations of officers in some districts. There hasn't been a one."

Suppose
"Suppose we hadn't investigated Santee after a West Coast newspaper had carried a story of alleged infractions of the rules, and then he became a member of the Olympic team? And then suppose the international body had taken action, and banned him? We wouldn't look very good, would we?"

"I'm not saying that every member of the AAU is without flaw. There are a few rotten apples in every barrel. But to condemn the organization because of the actions of a few is like condemning the banking profession because an occasional banker is an embezzler."

Upholds AAU
"I think people should appreciate the good work done by the AAU for the youth of America, and the men who carry on this work without remuneration, even paying their own expenses. I don't believe the AAU has more than 100 paid employees throughout the country."

Schoolman had to leave at this point. He had to be on hand for a swimming meet for boys being held under the auspices of the AAU.

Two Teams Show Strength

PATTERSON KELLEY and Bell Telephone won two matches apiece in the YMCA Industrial Volleyball League at the YMCA last night.

P-K defeated Marsh Foundry, 15-4 and 15-8, then won from Bell, 15-5 and 15-5.

Extended
Bell was extended to three games before it conquered International Boiler, 10-15, 15-5 and 15-7. Bell then trimmed Marsh Foundry, 15-9 and 15-6.

Four matches are scheduled for tonight starting at 7: ESSTC vs. Bell, International Boiler vs. Worthington Mower, Ronson vs. Worthington, and Bell vs. Worthington.

DeNikemen Crush Trenton In Track Meet

Yankees, Red Sox, Dodgers, White Sox Fail To Produce "Steals" In Winter Transactions

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP) — Where are those "steals" the New York Yankees, Boston Red Sox, Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago White Sox were supposed to have gotten away with in their big winter trades with rival clubs?

Remember what they said last November when the Red Sox supposedly hypnotized Washington Owner Calvin Griffith into dealing them such front-line performers as pitcher Bob Porterfield and first baseman Mickey Vernon along with southpaw Johnny Schmit and outfielder Tom Umphlett for five so-called "nonentities?" Well, one of those "nonentities,"

Karl Olson, is the regular center-fielder of the Senators. He's appeared in every game, is batting a torrid .362, has hit three home runs and has driven in 13 runs. His 23 hits are second in the league only to Mickey Mantle's 28.

Two of the other four-pitchers Dick Brodowski and Truman Cleveland haven't been particularly impressive. Brodowski has lost two games and Cleveland, used strictly in relief, has no record. The others, outfielder Neil Christley and pitcher Al Curtis, are gone.

For the Red Sox, only Vernon has done well so far. The 38-year-old first baseman is batting .302, has hit two home runs and driven in nine runs, alternating with Norm Zauchin. Porterfield's hard luck apparently continues. He has not been pitching badly, permitting 15 hits in 21 innings, and has lost two of his three starts. Schmitz has pitched only four innings in relief and Umphlett has been optioned to San Francisco.

Maybe Washington Manager Chuck Dressen knew what he was talking about when he remarked during spring training, "If Olson comes through for us, we've made a good deal."

Patterson To Tangle With Jackson In June

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP) — Floyd Patterson and Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, two top contenders for the world heavyweight title vacated by Rocky Marciano will meet June 8 in a 12-round elimination match at Madison Square Garden.

If the bout produces a sensational winning performance, the survivor probably will be matched with light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore for Rocky's title in September.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said he was staging the match early in the summer schedule in the hope a champion can be crowned by fall. A startling performance by some other contender in the elimination series might throw it into a wide-open scramble.

In Making

The Patterson-Jackson match, long in the making, finally was announced today by Julius Hellfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, who approved the contracts.

Under the terms of the bout, each fighter will get a minimum guarantee of $10,000 of which $20,000 will come from the radio-television rights. Each fighter also gets 25 per cent of the gross gate with a guarantee of $20,000.

Norris said there would be no blackout of any kind for the heavyweight battle which will be a part of the usual Friday night series with network radio and TV (NBC).

Robinson Blasts Move

LOS ANGELES, May 9 (AP) — World middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson today issued hot words of disfavor on the California rule which dictates that he and Bobo Olson must wear 8-ounce gloves in their championship fight at Wrigley Field May 18.

There was even talk of a walk-out from the champ's managers, Ernie Braca and George Gainford, unless the rule is changed.

But Jack Leonard, who is promoting the 15-round, nationally televised match for the Hollywood Legion Stadium, took the news calmly.

Good Reading

Puffing quietly on a large cigar, Leonard predicted: "This makes good reading but I am of the firm opinion Robinson will be in the ring a week from Friday. He likes money, too."

The rule says fighters weighing over 147 pounds must use 8-ounce gloves. It would take an act of the Legislature to change it. The legislature is not about to call a special session on the matter.

"The Marquis of Queensbury rules state that all championship fights be fought with 6-ounce gloves. We will go by those rules," So said Gainford, utterly ignoring the fact that the Marquis wasn't even a registered voter in California.

Cavaliers To Oppose Nazareth

EAST Stroudsburg and Nazareth were unable to take part in their scheduled Lehigh-Northampton League baseball game yesterday and the contest was rescheduled for 4 p.m. today.

The Cavaliers had to ask for a second postponement because they were unable to obtain transportation yesterday.

Excellent Scorer
UNIVERSITY PARK — Nick Thiel, Penn State lacrosse coach, represents his sophomore star, Bill Hess, as "outstanding in dodging and shooting."

Warriorettes Bow Before Temple, 4-3

PHILADELPHIA — Temple girls pushed an unearned run across the plate in the home half of the eighth inning here at the Oak Lane Country Day School yesterday to earn a 4-3 softball victory over the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College lassies.

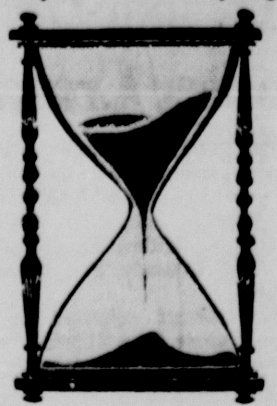

The winning team batted out seven hits, while the Warriorettes were held to four by Kelly, the winning hurler.

Big Blow

Helen Abrams tripled two runs across the plate in the seventh inning to tie the score, but an error, infield hit and line single gave the Owlettes the winning marker in the first overtime session.

Louise Carter pitched for ESSC, while Sally Hoover handled the catching chores for the visiting contingent.

Don't let another day go by without trying —

Rally Held In Honor Of Cancer Crusade

VOLUNTEER Cancer Crusade workers attended a "victory rally" last night at the YMCA and heard their campaign chairman, Chester S. Miller, announce that the 1956 Crusade had made $7,661.40.

The amount collected in the drive is more than $1,500 in excess of the $6,160 goal set for the county. A total of 14 districts went over the top in the drive, Miller said. The chairman gave the following breakdown on collection figures:

Delaware Waters Gap — $106.35; Stroudsburg — $1,269.15; East Stroudsburg — $933.96; Stroud Township — $536.24; Paradise — $197.86; Chestnut Hill — $157.31; Hamilton — $244.53; Eldred — $184; Middle Smithfield — $139.16; Coalingaugh — $278.99; Mount Pocono — $159.23; Smithfield — $301.86; Barrett — $600; Pocono — $234.31; Poik — $62.77; Price — $46.25; Tobyhanna — $119.25; Ross — $68.57; Tunkhannock — $15; Jackson — no report and no workers.

Organizations

Donations from organizations totaled $339; from industrial and retail sources — $645.26; $947.50 from special gifts and $74.75 from miscellaneous contributions, Miller said.

On behalf of the Monroe County Unit of the American Cancer Society, honor awards to workers were presented. Letters of commendation went to Radio Station WVPO, The Daily Record and Madalyn Maloney.

Merit awards were given to Miller, who headed the most successful cancer drive in the history of the county; Mrs. Eleanor Regan, who was in charge of publicity for the overall drive; Mrs. Parker Nicholson, who headed specialized public relations for the showing of a film on breast self-examination; Mrs. Kenneth Eshbach, who heads the unit's service organization providing bandages and equipment to cancer patients and to Leonard Randolph for a series of articles on "Seven Hope Cases" which ap-

Dr. Barnard To Head Mora Club

DR. RAY Barnard, of Anasink Lake, was elected president of the new YMCA Mora Club at a meeting of the club at the YMCA yesterday afternoon.

The club takes its name from the first initial on the words "men of retired age". The organization is composed of 36 men ranging in age from 60 to 85. Its membership rolls are still open to any man in that age group, according to John R. Wilson, general secretary of the YMCA. Co-sponsors of the club are the YMCA and the Stroudsburg Rotary Club.

Other Officials

Other officers elected yesterday: vice president, John Reinhardt; secretary, Arthur M. Troger; treasurer, Robert Kellington.

New members enrolled were Frederick Ott, John Shaffer, George Harrison, Milo Howel, Edwin Doering, Arthur Henderson, Leonard Hippler, George Shindell and James Tittle. Omitted from the list of names published last week was Rev. Luther Markin.

The club discussed formation of an auxiliary unit of women which would function separately, and meet either separately or jointly with the men's group.

John Richardson was appointed chairman of the program for the next meeting Wednesday, May 16 at 2 p.m. at the YMCA. A committee consisting of Max Hess, Charles Keiper and Reinhardt will draw up a constitution and by-laws.

Pocono Union Sunday School Releases Schedule Of Events

HENRYVILLE—Officers and teachers of Pocono Union Sunday School met briefly previous to the Sunday School hour recently to plan for coming events.

It was decided to hold the many times postponed covered dish supper for members and friends of the Sunday School, on Thursday night, May 17, at the Pocono Union Ladies Aid Hall. The supper will begin at 6 p. m., with each person requested to bring own table setting and a covered dish to share.

Children's Day will be celebrated during the Sunday School hour on June 10, with recitations and songs by the children. Then on Saturday, June 30, a baked goods sale will be held at Metzgar's Market, Tannersville, beginning at 10 a. m. Proceeds will be for the benefit of the Sunday School Building Fund. All donations of baked goods will be greatly appreciated.

Mothers' Day
There will be an observance of Mothers' Day this Sunday, with all children asked to give a Bible verse on "Mother" or one beginning with the letter "D" in conjunction with their Bible alphabet verses. Hildegarde Baumann and Carol Stewart will present stories on Bible mothers, and Mrs. Edna Canale will sing "My Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me." All children were instructed to bring their mothers and fathers.

PENTAGON IN MINIATURE is this four-wing, two-story, reinforced concrete Administration Building at Tobyhanna Signal Depot. From this giant structure emanate the central administrative activities at the Depot. Serving as the communications nerve center for the mammoth amount of work done at the Depot, the building also contains a dispensary, cafeteria, electronics center, photographic studio-darkroom, message duplication equipment. Building also contains central studio for MARS radio station at Depot; conference rooms; executive offices; large, attractive scale model of Depot itself which attracts eye of visitors as soon as they step through front door. Building is designed for functional as well as decorative beauty; boasts all-ramp levels rather than stairways.

Radar Strikes Major Blow At Success Of Mortar Fire

UNTIL RECENTLY one of the deadliest small weapons in warfare has been the mortar.

Easily maneuverable, hastily assembled and often astonishingly accurate in the right hands, the mortar has succeeded, at times, in wiping out full platoons of men.

Now, thanks to the amazing advances of radar technology, the rifle company and other military installations are less powerful against the drumming death-blows of the mortar.

In one of the most unusual and dramatic exhibits to be shown during "Tobyhanna Days" in The Stroudsburgs this weekend, visitors will have a chance to see new "counter-mortar" radar equipment at work on a scale model.

The model was designed and constructed at Fort Monmouth, N. J. It is set up on a large bas-relief, sculptured scenic platform. Through use of light patterns, the model shows the path of enemy mortar fire, its "tracking" by a movable radar assembly, the relay of information from the radar station to the fire direction control center and from there to the "friendly" gun position.

Commentary

At the same time a wire recorded commentary will be played, pointing out the precise moves being made by the stations on the model. The graphic demonstration ends, of course, in the total demolition of the enemy position. "Counter-mortar" systems do not operate on the first round fired by an enemy installation. Once the first burst has hit, however, the radar instrument swings into position in that direction, trains its "eye" on the general path.

Once a moving object—the mortar shell—crosses the path of the "eye," the radar "tracks" the missile, following its course directly to the point of the next explosion. At this point the information collected through radar is sent to a fire direction control center. At the center, grid coordinates are made, calculations are completed in a matter of seconds and complete information on direction and point of fire is relayed to the gun position within the company or platoon.

Using this information, the company mortar is able to nearly "zero in" on the enemy target. With unerring accuracy the mortar is set, fired. And, almost without exception, the enemy position is subsequently destroyed.

For the benefit of those attending the mammoth display of Signal Corps equipment and scale models of new devices, personnel will be on hand to explain the working of the complex and varied installations.

For the "counter-mortar" model, the wire recording tells the full story. It will be set to play over and over again, in coordination with the patterns of lights and explosives on the scenic "screen" which illustrate the story.

EASY WAY UP for heavy crates loaded with Signal Corps equipment is demonstrated here by worker operating hydraulic hoist. Depot stores millions of dollars worth of new and restored equipment; ships to all parts of world.

Tobyhanna Signal Depot Actually Good-Sized Town

PUT ALL THE MEN AND WOMEN who work at Tobyhanna Signal Depot into one area and you'd have a good-sized town.

That, in effect, is exactly what the Depot is.

Its employees—both men and women—are a community in their own right.

The Depot could be used as a model for many other "small" communities in America today. The reason for this can be boiled down into one simple fact: Its employees accept their responsibilities as citizens.

Intent

This, to all practical intent and purpose, is a "working" community. Each man has his own job. Yet the obligation he feels does not end here.

During the past year Tobyhanna Signal Depot employees have contributed generously to nearly all the welfare and public health drives conducted in Monroe County.

Beginning with a large contribution to the Community Chest and ranging right on down to participation in the Heart Fund drive, Depot employees have worked hard to prove their willingness to become an integral part of the community.

In one area, at least, the Depot has performed a service which is little short of heroic for Monroe County. This occurred not once, but twice during the past year.

The major example is the Red Cross Bloodmobile—an all-important element in the system promoting public health in this area.

Twice during the year collections in the county proper fell behind. The first time was last Fall. An emergency appeal was made to the Depot. Officials there agreed to do what they could to help.

That same day they announced that an appeal had been made to the Depot for support of the Bloodmobile. In a matter of hours the donor list had begun to grow, almost as if by magic.

Success

When the mobile unit came to the Depot it had one of its most successful stops in more than two years. And Depot employees—by giving nearly 500 pints of blood—had pulled Monroe County's blood donor program "out of the hole."

The same distinctive service was performed earlier this year when an urgent appeal was made by local Red Cross Bloodmobile spokesmen.

Depot employees were also outstanding in their response to calls for help during the post-flood period last August. Working night and day, employees and officers maintained the Depot as an emergency landing field, as a full-scale first aid center and as a rescue operation base.

Signal Depot employees pulled nearly 200 railroad passengers off stranded trains in the Barrett Township region. All of them were saved.

No matter what the problem may be, the Depot and its employees are ready to help within the community.

It is this sense of cooperation and good spirit which has helped to make the Depot and the men and women who represent it an integral part of the communities in which they live.

Few Branches Of U. S. Army Able To Match Unique, Hard-Working Signal Corps History

FEW BRANCHES of the U. S. Army have had the unique, hard-working history of the Signal Corps. Imperative to the success of any armed operative force is the system of communications. This the Signal Corps provides in excellent, up-to-the-minute and far-reaching degree.

The Signal Corps goes far beyond this function, however. It serves also as the primary link between the Army and the public. Its work in wartime includes duties far beyond the scope of most communications organizations.

And it is among the oldest and proudest of military service corps. Since the slow, early days of American military history, the Signal Corps has been an indispensable part of all Army military operations. It is not unusual, therefore, that the Signal Corps has more than its fair share of historical exhibits and relics to show for its activity. At Fort Monmouth, N. J., a "museum" devoted to the collection of old and often "odd" instruments gives lasting testimony to the historic achievements of the Corps.

Display
Many of these "museum pieces" will be on display in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg during "Tobyhanna Days" this weekend. There will also be exhibits of brand-new, never-before-seen-in-public equipment designed to show the contrast between "then and now."

On the ancient side of the ledger, "Tobyhanna Days" will feature, for example, a 1912-model German "HQ" (for headquarters) phone. Resembling somewhat the telephones still seen in stage productions of French or Viennese operettas, the phone lies in a cradle on top of a uniquely-decorative wooden box containing the sound system. By contrast residents who visit the displays will be able to see a full-scale, working model of a modern, ideal telephone communications system.

There will be also, a "dual-sending key" used for Morse code. The idea behind the two-key system was basically that one key was to be used for dots, the other for dashes. The method has since been abandoned as basically unfeasible and the present-day one-key system is used.

One of the most "fantastic" of the articles to be shown will be a round keyboard transmitter-receiver. This device, set up on a large triangular box-style board, resembles a telephone dial roughly.

The machine was used—as are its modern-day counterparts—to "cut" tape and punch holes in a tape. This ribbon of paper was then passed through a second machine for decoding. In one sense, the machine closely parallels work done today by teletypesetters used by many newspapers, including this one.

An integral, and historically valuable, portion of the display will be a collection of captured equipment. This group of mechanical devices has been borrowed from Fort Monmouth to illustrate the way in which the Signal Corps, through capture and study of equipment, determines the technological advances made by enemies in the communications field.

Modern Scale
On the purely modern scale, the exhibit will include a completely new and hitherto-unused detector. This is a portable model, installed in its own suitcase-style protector and operable in its own enclosure.

There will be a brand new radio R-390/URR, the most advanced in the field of reception-transmission. The 390 is equipped to change frequencies with the flick of a dial.

Other displays will include these: A collection of low, medium and high-power tubes, ranging from a thin, tiny transmitting tube used in small radio equipment to the large "economy" size 5 KW tube.

Two engines from the U. S. Air Force. Largest of these will be the 2,500-pound J-34 jet engine from the Air Force Reserve Center in Wilkes-Barre. The second will be an 1,800-pound DC-3 Pratt-Whitney 16-cylinder job with radial head. Both will be mounted on a large stand in front of the Montgomery Ward building in Stroudsburg alongside the Signal Depot's own staff illustrating its many functions.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1956
March 21 to April 20 (Aries): Take everything a bit easier and you will have smoother, better results. Shoot straight and even though you may not hit the mark immediately, you will eventually.
April 21 to May 21 (Taurus): You can make some unusual headway, or at least get started on something that will eventually bring happy returns. Be decisive without being abrupt. Don't take on needless responsibilities.
May 22 to June 21 (Gemini): You people are always planning, thinking of new, improved or more interesting ways of doing things; good for you! Don't be held back by those who fear to venture. But don't overdo.
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer): When you realize how many fine possibilities there are, and that no one has a monopoly on success or happiness, you should try harder to attain. And try now!
July 24 to August 23 (Leo): Unusual matters in which you are interested and new ideas and methods of value are favored now. Use fact in both business and personal relationships. Don't fail yourself or anyone this good day.
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo): Put away your doubts and pitch in to the day's schedule with faith and confidence. Cooperate with others and you will benefit.
September 24 to October 23 (Libra): A good day for self-improvement, as well as for bettering business and other material interests. Be cooperative with superiors, neighbors.
October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio): Your planet is fairly well-aspected now, but work and other interests should be handled carefully to bring in fresh gains. Do not over-enthusiastic to extremes.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius): Not an entirely easy day for quick money-making. Before he sensibly cautious. It is a day, however, for improving the quality of your work, making your future more secure.
December 24 to January 20 (Capricorn): Tedious small tasks and more precarious undertakings are both under encouraging star rays. You will make your work easier and gain more, however, if you remain your genial self.
January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius): This day's aspects suggest that you analyze all situations carefully, act with confidence and avoid unhealthy, unprofitable restlessness. This can be a red letter day for smart, ambitious Aquarians.
February 20 to March 20 (Pisces): Promising, friendly intentions. Pop up your self-esteem and give your talents and general capabilities a good chance to manifest themselves. You have fine opportunities.
NOT BORN TODAY have many talents which could bring success. However, don't be glib or let sympathy carry you into unwise associations or phases; and do not challenge the authority of those who are the truly helpful and the tempting but unsteady. You can achieve in more than one direction, could make a hobby pay, and could be productive at music, sports, writing and invention, among other things. Birthdays of James (Viscount) Bryce, Brit. statesman, diplomat.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
